THREE VIOLETS.

BY H. L. PLARIT. We walked in the garden, she and 1-As fair a maiden as ever was seen, With a form like a post sees in his sleep,

And a face like Proscopine.

And the envious violets hid in the leaves, Peeped up in her eyes as she passed, And the roses thought the Queen of the flowers. Had come to their court at last.

She looked so pure, and she looked so sweet, That-forgive me, O virgin mother in Heaven! I felt as though I could kneel at her feet, To have my sins forgiven.

And I plucked three violets from the stems, And sighing, I handed the buds to her, And the romance, asleep is my heart, Began to wake and stir.

She took the videts from my hand, With her delicate, dainty finger-fips, That seem as though they borrowed their hue, From the red of her rose-bad lips.

And two of the flowers she put to sleep, In her pure young bosom-in peace to rest-And the third at her throat, where only the ripple Came up from the heave of her breast:

And I thought as I looked at that tender flower Of the Perl, whose error was unfergiven, Who sits in her beauty all alone, At the sapphire gates of Heaven.

And I know the two in her virgin breast. Will never awake, but die in their sleep, While the other will linger awbile on earth, To watch, and perchance to weep.

But better to die on the breast of love, Like those happy chamoured flowers, Than live to weap at the joys you have lost, In this desolate world of ours.

Surgeon Legare.

Surgeon J. Cecil Legare, who was captured at the battle of Perryville , and detained nearly two months among the Yankees, gives his experience of their Adjutant General, published in the Winchester trast is striking between the polished courtesy TULLAHOMA, Jan. 13, 1863.

SIR: Having been captured at the battle of Perryville, Oct. 8th, 1862, and detained for nearly months, by order of the Federal commanders, as Surgeon of the Confederate Hospital, established at Harrodsburg, Ky., I deem it my duty to give publicity to the facts that fell under my observation as val of your government." to Federal treatment of Confederates. The blackened corpses of our dead remained unbueried for more than one week, and when the shallow from Mr. Memminger to Mr. Mason, on the protence of interment was performed, the nether extremities of all, and the arms of many, were left ex-posed. Swine were the scavengers of the field dig-ging up the half buried dead, and in many instances arating the skull from the body. At the Hospital our sick and wounded were in a lowing are its leading provisions:

For the first mouth we received carcely any medicines from the Federals, and were dependent for the leading articles, such as opium, been adopted in preference to cents, because e and chlereferm, upon private contributions The bold excuse for this inhumanity was, that the medicine train intended for us had been captured by Gen. Morgan, thus venting their imilianity upon the unfortunates whom the chances of war threw into

After having been relieved from duty at Harrods urg, I again witnessed the Yankee idea of humanity strikingly illustrated at Cairo, where eleven hundre nen were crowded into a boat, (the Dacatah,) which according to the Inspector's certificate, was istended to carry only two hundred and fifty; and this space was contracted by the guard, about thirty in number. who occupied the hurricane deck to the exclusion all except commissioned officers, who were permitto to go thither only occasionally; moreover, en the low-er dock was coal cufficient for the down and return trip as far as Memphis. Commissioned officers were required to pay for the bunks which they occupied, she wing either that the U.S. Government did not contract for the full carrying capacity of the vessel or that the officers in charge of the returning prison ers connived at the extertion practiced by the officers of the boat. Although our men had been robbed of everything except barely enough to cover nakedness. yet raw rations were distributed, and no utensils, no appliances for cooking were furnished. The beat tract an additional clar which accompanied as (the Sallie List.) had note is authorized to add; nundred prisoners on beard, and most of these being sick or wounded, the Federal Surgeon remained her. We frequently made requisitions on him for medicines, which were furnished in quantities totally inadevaste to ony necessities. Owing to the crowded state of the boats, the want of provisions and medicines, sickness prevailed to such an slavming extent that on reaching Memphis, representations being made to the authorities, another boat (the Techmah) was added, to which the sick from both boats were massorred. Adequate supplies of medicines having been provided, and our number having been reduced by transfer and death to six hundred, we reached Vicksburg in comparative comfort. The cartel existing between the Governments was violated by Brig. Gen. J. W. Tottle, commanding at Cairo. Under his order the Provest Marshal of that place took possession of my horse and equipments, and aegiected to roply to a formal protest against the act. When called a pon personally he staged that he had acted in accordance with the order from his Government, and promised to find the order and give his written reason for the seizure, a promise which yet remains unful-

Let the world know the barbarons brutality that denies decent interment to our dead; the fieudish malignity that relimes medicines to our sick and wounded; the contemptible avaries that furnishes madequate transportations to exchanged captives, he utter want of good faith which totally disregards solemn treaty obligations. Yours very respectfully.

The French Government is desirous of securing for itself an independent source of cotton supply to offset that possessed by Great Britain in India, and designs to effect this purpose by taking under its protection the State of Texas, which after being acknowledged as an independent republic, would, in its opinion, be, in effect, as dependent on France, French colony.

In this correspondence it is also made to appear that a discovery has been made of a political "intrigue," believed to have been set on foot by a consular agent of the French Government, resident at Galveston, for the of Colonel in the old army, viz: Brigadier purpose of detaching the State of Texas from General J.
